DENISON.

Chautauqua Literary Circle--The Denison Academy Association Incorporated.

Grand Democratic Rally in the Near Future--A Jury Gone to Meet the "Committee of Twenty."

Special Correspondence of the Gazette.

DENISON, TEX., Oct. 4.--It is now ten days past the first of October and Weber Benton, who was to have been on hand with a force of employees to take charge of and run the daily weekly Herald-News, from said date on and forever, has not showed up. Crooks does not seem to mourn the non-appearance of the aforesaid W. B., who does not appear to be bent on publishing a daily as much as was, philosophically, and will continue business at the old stand.

The Democratic gathering at Judge Crook's office last night was full of enthusiasm. It was there determined to have a grand rally at an early date, and committees were appointed to invite prominent speakers and make arrangements for the meeting.

The Democracy of Denison are practical in their campaign management, instead of raising long lines and sitting down under their own persimmon trees and waiting patiently for the fruit to fall into their hats, they contribute to the sums of money to erect poles for holding the Ohio persimmons.

There is considerable curiosity manifested by many inquisitive people to know what has become of the jury summoned to inquire into the cause of origin of the late attempt to burn the Monarch saloon in this city.

My friend is of the opinion that the jury has gone to meet the "committee of 20."

A charter has been procured incorporating the Denison Academy association. This is the school now under the charge of Prof. W. M. Kalkock, late principal of the public school.

What came very near being a serious accident occurred at the water-works grounds yesterday. A clamp on the steel-wire cable of the derrick slipped, letting the boom of the derrick down among the men at work. Fortunately none were hurt. If they had been it would have been instant death.

The Chautauqua Literary circle has been formed, which meets each Friday night. It met last night at the house of Mrs. E. T. Hathaway, and will meet there again on next Friday night.

The contractors who built the new schoolhouse have been permitted by the city council to select experts to examine the walls to pass upon their quality. There appears to be a general opinion of opinion concerning the soundness, or rather the soundness of the foundation of the schoolhouse wall. In the meantime the city is renting other buildings for schools, as the large schoolhouse built in 1875 is entirely too small for the scholastic population of the city.

TOYAH.

Special to the Gazette.

TOYAH, TEX., Oct. 4.--The new school-house is being built and will be completed by November 1. School has already begun with twenty-five scholars.

Toyah is on a boom. Town lots are selling rapidly. Thirty lots were sold this week and as many more, it is expected, will be sold next week. They are in great demand.

The county seat of Reeves county will be at Toyah, without a doubt.

A Mysterious Lynching.

Special to the Gazette.

TEMPLE, TEX., Oct. 3.--A man was hanged just outside the city limits last night. The whole matter is mysterious. As Engineer Kelly and other train men were transferring some cars from the Santa Fe to the Missouri Pacific about 1 o'clock last night they discovered the body suspended by a rope from the trestle over Knob creek, just south of town. The matter was at once reported and the body cut down and an inquest held. But little was developed, more than that the name of the dead man was Frank Edwards, and that he had been hanged by unknown persons. A note was found at the place this morning stating that the man was hanged for stealing and abusing another man's wife, and that there were others who had better be careful, which note was signed "Citizens of Belton." The affair is deprecated and condemned by the citizens of Temple and no one believes that any good citizen of Belton knew anything of the affair, but that the note was written by some one with a hope to cast off suspicion. Edwards was not well known here, having been here only about a week, and no one seems to know anything about him and it is not known that he had an enemy here. Many think that he was followed up and hanged by parties from some other place, but of this there is not the least proof. The matter may furnish a good job for a detective.

MADAME ADELINA PATTI.

We publish an outline picture of Madame Patti, the greatest and sweetest singer that has ever been in the world. She sings in opera, exclusively in the great cities of America and Europe. Her price for one performance for years past has been five thousand dollars. She sings only in the opera season (about six months in the year), and during that season only about two or three times a week, and still she is not happy. Some years ago she was married to a French Count. Before she was married she liked the Count very much. After marriage she disliked him very much. They have both sued for divorce in the Paris courts. Patti will not sing in Paris, because her husband, according to the French law, can take her salary every night. An amusing incident occurred in St. Louis last spring. Patti was singing in opera. Governor Crittenden called upon her, and it was said at parting he kissed her. Upon the next evening, Governor Crittenden and his wife were in a private box at another theater. An inimitable actress sang a comic song in which she sang, "Please don't tell I told you so." At the conclusion of the song she continued: "I heard something awful last night, please don't tell I told you so." The governor tried to laugh. His good lady blushed. The house roared and clapped hands, when the mischievous singer continued: "If I was his wife I would sue for a divorce; please don't say I told you so." It was too much for the governor. He was too much for his good lady. They did not enjoy it. The audience did, however. By-the-by, good reader, if you want physicians' prescriptions filled; if you want Drugs or Medicines, if you want Toilet Articles, if you want good Claret, please come to the Ft. Worth Pharmacy Co. Our prices are reasonable, we do an exclusively family retail drug business, and keep only the best of goods. To the ladies of Fort Worth, call at our store, when you please, when you are tired, when you wish to rest, and make yourselves at home.
